9. Description of work/research performed: Further development of a web platform focusing on the communication of spatial information. The platform is intended to serve the exchange of spatial information between different interest groups in urban planning - citizens, scientists, NGOs, municipalities - as well as a basis for decision-making processes (Spatial Decision Support System). In addition to the further development, among other things, documentation was also created for potential platform users. As part of the work, the topics of Git, static websites, website hosting, static site generator and open source were also examined and applied and thereby learned and further deepened.
